FOR EYE-WITNESSES

Someone, Somewhere, Saw
Papke Boy Struck by Car.
Officials Say—"Where Is He?" Query

Police and other officials continued busy today searching for additional witnesses to testify at the next and closing session next Wednesday of the jury in the Harold Papke inquest.

Not one of the several witnesses who testified yesterday had seen the little Papke boy fatally injured by the Bemis car driven by Earl Conners, which had been instructed to officials were somewhat dissatisfied.

"I decline to answer on the grounds that I may incriminate myself," was the answer of Conners on the stand yesterday to questions pertaining to the accident which were put by Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie. He had been instructed to make such answers by his counsel, E. H. Ryan.

Finally Tells Story.
Unable to get further from the witness, Dist. Atty. Dunwiddie dismissed him from the stand and the jury retired to the judge's office, deciding a charge of manslaughter.

Conners wanted to ask Conners one question. In the interim, Mr. Ryan talked with Conners and decided to let him testify so he again took the stand and told his story.

One outstanding feature of his story which seemed to impress the jury was that he was driving at 9 to 10 miles an hour, not more, along High street; that when he saw the Papke child about 5 feet from him, he tried to sound the horn, applied the emergency brake and swung to the left, but could not stop.

Brakes Didn't Work.
He declared the brakes didn't seem to take hold and the horn failed to work. He admitted striking the child, driving to the corner turning around and coming back over the same street and going to the Bemis garage on Wall street, where he abandoned the machine.

Conners said he had his 21st birthday a week ago, that he had lived in Janesville seven months and before that time had lived in Hartford and later in Milwaukee. He told of how he happened to be driving Fred Bemis' car that day.

Jury Questions Conners.
The jury, made up of George King, George Neumer, George Olin, Robert Conway, Amos Rehberg, and Ben Smith, showed a desire to ask questions in order to gain full information. Mr. King questioned Conners' statement that he did not exceed 10 miles per hour, declaring most drivers in shifting from second to high speed always drove faster than 10 miles.

Other witnesses examined were: Leslie Bucholtz, school boy, 317 North High street; Herman Eckmeier, school boy, 520 West Bluff; Harry Carney, Milton; Mrs. Henry C. Klein, 415 West Milwaukee; Dr. W. H. McGuire; Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Bemis, 121 South Jackson.

Ernest Edwards, another witness, could not appear because of illness. Fred Barzel is another who did not testify yesterday.

Several Witnesses Dismissed.
Neither of the two school boys could testify to any facts as they had not seen the accident. Testimony of most of the others, too, was insufficient because they had not seen the boy struck.

Mrs. Klein said Conners drove at a rather fast rate up North High street. Carney testified the Papke boy was bleeding when he saw him and that his head lay toward Milwaukee street, the body lying face downward. He said he did not believe Conners was going more than 15 miles an hour.

Dr. McGuire on Stand.
Dr. McGuire testified the boy had a lacerated wound in the right side of his head, apparently the mark of the auto, and a fracture at the base of his skull, probably suffered when he struck the pavement. He said there were bruises on his left arm and left knee.

The boy was conscious until an hour before his death early Tuesday morning, Dr. McGuire said, although he lapsed into a delirium early Monday evening and could not talk.

Ernest Bemis testified the foot brake on the car did not work well, but that the emergency brake locked the wheels, and that, traveling at 10 miles an hour, application of the emergency would stop the car within 14 feet.

One point which seemed to impress jurors as inconsistent was that Conners testified the car struck the boy's left side, as far as he knew, whereas the severe cuts in the child's head were on the right side. Dr. McGuire had testified that dirt was not ground into the wounds as it no doubt would be had the fall to the pavement caused the fall. He said the dirt lay in them loosely.

TEACHERS FEDERATE,
FIX OWN SALARIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Appleton, April 1.—Outagamie rural school teachers fixed their own salaries for next term when they organized the Outagamie Teachers' Federation and prepared a wage schedule which has been submitted to the school boards. Teachers are asking for minimum monthly salaries of $80 for mentors with one year's experience, $100 for two years' experience, and $110 for teachers who have taught three or more years.

The federation also petitioned the boards not to employ teachers from outside the county to the detriment of Outagamie county pedagogues. It was agreed to recognize only teachers holding first grade certificates.

TANK CORPS TAKEN IN FEDERAL RANKS

Seventy-Four Men Sworn by Ball—Purpose of Unit Told
Fair Grounds Procured.

With 74 men on the rolls, "T" Company, tank corps, Wisconsin division, of the United States militia outfit in the Federal service was mustered into Federal service last night by Collin Ball, major, infantry, U. S. A.

The ceremony took place in the presence of Mayor Thomas E. Welsh, every member of the city council, except one who was out of town on business; Frank Jackman, president of the Rock County Savings & Trust Co. and other prominent men and citizens of the city.

Marked by the enthusiasm which has put the organization over the top, all but eight men of the company were on hand to take the oath of allegiance to the United States and the State of Wisconsin. Those soldiers were absent because of urgent business duties or illness.

The mustering process meant only the signing of the rolls and taking of the oath. Enlistment papers, as well as waivers of dependency as affecting married men, had been attended to beforehand.

Fair Grounds Procured

In conjunction with the formal recognition of the unit by the War Department, it was announced that the securing of the fair grounds as storage place for the tanks which will be shipped here by the authorities at Washington has been effected through the efforts of city officials and the Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the directors of the Janesville Fair association.

Equipment of clothing and arms will be forthcoming from the quartermaster corps for the newly made soldiers in time for use in the next official day exercises and parade. The uniform will be that of the regular army.

For Law And Order Only

After the men had been sworn in and were at ease in formation, Major Ball addressed them for a considerable length. He told them they were enlisted for the service of the state in holding up law and order. They were not enlisted to support any employer against any employee; that was not what the guard was for; it was to do its part to preserve the law, to protect the rights of individuals and property.

"You have a splendid opportunity here in Janesville. I am surprised that it has taken so long to gather 74 men in a company. You are to wear the uniform of a soldier. There are those who are not good citizens who will insult the uniform and sneer at it. Pay no attention to them. No good soldier does. Fraternity and cooperation are the things that make a good soldier of the guard. You must cooperate with your officers and help them. When an order is given, perform the task with a cheerful alacrity. The man who sneers and sneaks as a soldier is not a good citizen and will be just the same in his private business."

"Janesville is to have the distinction of a company differing in some manner from the other guard units. I am sure the men of this company will shed honor on the city and on the service. You can make this company popular in Janesville, and I am sure you will."

Major Welsh pledged the full support of the city to the organization in a short speech in which he expressed pride in the manner with which the company has been organized and appreciated the officers and men on their enthusiasm and desire to form a military company for the protection of the state and country.

One Can See Through It, But There's No Joke

The man who hatched that one about people living in glass houses and throwing stones did not live long in the present, but like a lot of other axiom-slingers, had his speech written in the ledger of eternity while the world forgot his name. All in all, and take it as you may, the inhabitant of an abode of the kind of brittle, transparent substance formed of silica and certain metallic oxides (that's from Danny W.) can well afford to fancy evening everybody's nose down these days. For now the common product is worth near its weight in gold.

PRODUCT IS SCARCE.

Five hundred dollars' worth of plate glass today would not enclose a very large space. And five hundred dollars' worth of plate glass is as hard to obtain as hen's eggs at a quarter a dozen.

Like the rest of the manufacture of things, the market for plate glass is particularly scarce. The automobile industry is blamed for the shortage. It is claimed that several of the large manufacturers' six or eight weeks ago, facing a shortage of plate glass for windshields, promptly assured themselves of supplies by purchasing outright a large number of the large plate glass works in the east.

NO SHIPMENTS FOR MONTHS.

It is claimed that a local garage man who just rented his place of business was able to secure his window plate only through efforts of an automobile salesman of a particular line of cars.

At least two large windows blown in by a sale in November in this city are still boarded up. No glass is available to local dealers. Insurance agents carrying the policies on the windows are ready to put in the windows, but the dealers can't get the glass.

HUSBAND WOULDN'T BUY HER ANYTHING

All that her husband ever bought her in the two years of their married life was a pair of slippers and a house apron, claims Minnie Keller, Beloit, in asking divorce in the circuit court here from Charles F. Keller, same city, on grounds of desertion and a statutory charge.

They were married in 1916 and she declares that he neglected to provide her with food or clothing for herself and young child. All that he ever gave her, she says, was $50, and the most of that he caused her to return. His actions, she asserts, compelled her to work for her board and living. She also charges that he sought the company of infamous women.

Thousands of Poles, Czechoslovaks and Jugoslavs who made small fortunes in America, recently passed through Switzerland to their own countries where their incomes will be increased through the low rates of exchange 60 percent to 80 percent. About three-fifths of them declared they were returning to Europe because America had gone dry.

LENZ ASKS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY GROUNDS

"My wife hit me with a broom and treated me cruelly," declares Edwin Lenz in petitioning for divorce from Marie J. Lenz, whom he married in Janesville in 1917. He also asserts that his wife last year sold their furniture and went to Racine, but he bought it back. Again, two weeks ago, she sold the house, hold goods and this time, he states, disappeared to Michigan with their two-year old daughter, with a man with whom she had been going to dances, remaining away until after midnight.

Nagging, insulting, swearing and other acts of cruelty are charged by Esther W. Lawson in asking her marriage bonds to Alexander Lawson be severed. About a month after they were married in June of last year, Mrs. Lawson says he jumped upon her without provocation, hit her blows with his fist in the face, choked her and threatened to throw her downstairs. This occurred when they were living at Doumar, Wis. She also declares that he failed to provide sufficient food and clothing. His actions, she holds, caused her to leave him last November and come to Janesville.

LOCAL WALKOUT IS BEING SETTLED

Many Contractors Get Together With Men and Accept Demands Made.

Carpenters, painters, sheet metal workers and tinsmiths this morning within four hours after Janesville's allied labor organizations had officially started their announced walk-out for today, had settled their grievances with a number of contractors. Some returned to jobs to-day. Others will be back at work tomorrow.

Five building contractors signed with the carpenters' union granting the demanded wage of $1 per hour. Before noon 160 union carpenters had signed the new contract. The union's great majority were expected to have completed the contract this afternoon or tomorrow. A number of carpenters immediately went to work.

Demands Being Met.
The painters were the second union to secure their demands. Their organization was in session at Union hall at 9:30 and shortly afterwards an announcement was made that two contractors had agreed to the new scale of $1 per hour. Approximately 100 painters will be back at work tomorrow.

The tinsmiths and sheet metal workers received their demands. Between 25 and 30 workmen were affected.
Open meetings of all unions were in order throughout today at Union hall and an announcement was made that the program would continue through the week, if necessary.

An executive session of the Building Trades council was held just previous to noon.
Practically all construction work in the city was at a standstill today. The aggregate would be hard to determine.

Progress on Buildings
Outside masonry and carpentry work on the addition to Mercy hospital has been completed and little work has been held up on the structure. The floors are being laid at the present and special attention is being paid to the exterior of the block of ten rooms because of the crowded conditions at the institution.

The new Parker Fen building is still tied up. Carpenters and masons walked off the job in a sympathy with the demands of the plumbers. Before noon construction work was at a similar predicament today but the sudden turn of affairs this morning will permit much work to be resumed tomorrow.
Fred Green, who was quoted as being a member of the grievance committee of the contractors and employees yesterday, states in the Gazette that he is not a member of that committee and was not present at the conference Tuesday night. He informed the Gazette that an official statement would be forthcoming in reference to the labor situation and until then he did not care to say anything.

Electricians Join Ranks.
The electricians joined the walk-out this morning. Their demands are for $1 per hour.
The afternoon session was announced at Union hall that the masons and bricklayers had secured contracts with a number of builders.
Following the meeting of the executive board of the Building Trades Council this afternoon, George Diller made the following announcement: "Conditions left nothing to be desired. Contractors and union representatives were in various sessions throughout the morning and much to the benefit of each side was accomplished. Some workers returned to operations this afternoon."
Situation Not Critical.

Regardless of the lock-out between any of the various unions and contractors, we have made ample arrangements for the welfare of the men. There is no critical aspect at present and I look for none. Things are quiet and there has been no demonstration of antagonism either way. Furthermore there is no strike.
Agreement of certain contractors to meet the demanded increases of several unions is held to be indicative that these builders will also reach amicable settlement with other organizations of the constructive nature. Otherwise no work would be possible.

SAMSON PLANT IS HOST TO GENERAL MOTORS OFFICIALS

Janesville and the Samson Tractor plant were hosts today to W. C. Durant, president, and eight other officials of the General Motors corporation, winding up a five-day tour of inspection of G. M. plants. The entire morning and the early part of the afternoon were spent by the party inspecting the Samson plant. Traveling in two special cars—a sleeping compartment and a diner—the party arrived in Janesville at 6 o'clock this morning. The cars were left on the side-track of the north side of the first unit. Pulled by a special C. & N. W. engine, the train was scheduled to leave Janesville at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for New York city, where the tour ends.

Besides Mr. Durant, other officials who made up the party were: R. Kaskob, chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors corporation; John T. Smith and L. R. Boardman, both of New York City; William McMaster and Floyd Lankford, Montreal, Can.; Arthur Chamberlain, London, Eng.; W. J. Day, Portland, Ore.; John J. Edwards, president and manager of the General Motors Truck company; and C. R. Schmitt, New York, who is in charge of the party.

Two other officials, Sir Harry McGowan and B. Purvis, both of Glasgow, Scotland, were with the party up until today, being obliged to leave for London, where they are to visit plants in Detroit, Flint and Lansing.

A performance of the Samson "iron horse" on industrial avenue in front of the Samson office was watched by Mr. Durant and his party this morning.

Hot Cross Buns

Tomorrow, Good Friday, is Hot Cross Bun day. Janesville bakers have promised a big supply, on plants alone planning to turn out 600 dozens of the confection.

The origin of the Hot Cross Bun is traceable back centuries. In London and throughout England is observed in with the cry:
Hot Cross Buns.
One a penny, two a penny.
Hot Cross Buns.
Chelsea, noted for its "Bun House" which was mentioned by Swift, in 1712, has had as many as 50,000 calls for buns on this particular day.

The history of the bun goes back to the very early days of Christianity. The Jewish nation had its particular cakes of the Passover. A sacred cake was used by the heathens in their idol worship.

MEAT SUPPLY HERE CONTINUES NORMAL

There has been no noticeable effect locally among meat dealers as the result of the strike at the Chicago stockyards of the 5,000 to 6,000 cattle handlers. Stocks of dressed and of cured meats in the cold storage plants of the packers are of such proportion that it may be the middle of next week, should the walk-out continue that local before Janesville and other cities will be placed on meat rations, according to statements today of local dealers and of meat salesmen.

Practically no livestock shipments are being made out of the city, although Milwaukee yards are reported to be receiving from the west and up-state.

Locally, dealers and cafe men are looking to Milwaukee for their meat supplies if the Chicago tie-up continues.

MILTON GLEE CLUB SCORES HIT HERE

With the gay and grave in songs, the Milton College Glee club made a successful appearance at the Apollo theater last evening, furnishing a splendid concert of versatility. Sixteen college men made up the personnel of the club, which was ably directed by L. H. Stirling. Practically every one of the numbers called forth an encore. Negro folk songs arranged from the original Southern classics were popular numbers.

A song depicting the trials of a diver, which has broken down and must travel home on the rim was sung by a quartet made up of Kakuske, Randolph, R. R. and W. W. Holiday.

The club is making its seventeenth annual tour, having sung this season in Beloit, Delavan, Geneva, Whitewater, and Waterloo, other Wisconsin cities being scheduled.

FORWARD, JANESVILLE!

To make Janesville a better place in which to live and in which to do business, the Gazette pledges itself to work for and support these things:

Housing survey to discourage exorbitant rentals; encouragement of building more houses; appraisal of property values so that rent profiteers may be made to pay the increased amount of taxes.

Open roads in the country 365 days of the year; better roads generally, and support of the road building plans; better streets and more paved streets in the city.

A market pavilion in the city which may also be used for many other purposes by farmers and livestock producers.

A community building to be used for auditorium, sport events, meetings, rest rooms, and also as a fitting memorial for soldiers.

Open the churches seven days a week and stop economic waste in room and time. Make meetings meeting places for the young, and provide symposium facilities.

Build a real home for the girls who come here to work.

Open the fair grounds this year as a recreation park with tennis courts and other play apparatus. Establish parks and playgrounds.

Better the street car service as population increases.

On this date seven years ago, the heart of Janesville's retail district was swept by fire which caused a loss of a quarter million dollars. All buildings on the south side of Milwaukee street bridge from the Sutherland block to the east shore were destroyed and the bridge was ruined.

A WORD ABOUT MR. HOOVER.

If the presidency of the United States is to go to a man on either the democratic or republican ticket as a reward for services to the party, past or present, then Herbert Hoover has no chance whatever as a candidate. The letter of Mr. Hoover's to a California friend, published in the Gazette, Wednesday, indicates more clearly the character of the man than any contribution of the campaign. Mr. Hoover declares he is a republican and affiliated with that party. If the republicans want him as a candidate for president he will accept the task. It is rather refreshing in these days of trying to say one thing and do another, to read the unmistakable platform of Mr. Hoover. There is no question where he stands on the league of nations. He is for the treaty with such reservations as will protect us. His letter to President Wilson, of nearly a year ago, recently made public and printed in the Gazette two weeks ago, was the clearest exposition of the position America must take in world politics and keep clear of the petty entanglements of Europe.

Mr. Hoover has made no campaign. Other candidates have been manufacturing sentiment for themselves for months. Gen. Wood has had behind him powerful interests and an abundance of money. That is equally true of Gov. Lowden. Elmer Johnson and Miles Poindexter seem to have funds enough to readily go about, organize primaries, and spend additional sums on literature. Johnson has been, next to Wood, the longest and hardest fighter in the field.

The republican party has a splendid history of achievement. Its traditions and its memories are of the finest things done for the country. But they are history. We are living in a new era. "Old things have passed away and all things have become new." We do not demand partisanship only; we demand leadership. If Hoover, of California, were nominated for president, and Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, for vice-president, would we not have a ticket that would be practically invincible? It represents sound sense, backbone, high ideals, practicality, economy, America first, and administrative ability. Coolidge, as governor of Massachusetts, by his stand for law and order in the Boston police strike, saved the cities of the nation from a repetition of that abortive effort to establish a soviet of the police departments. He had a real backbone and he was rewarded by re-election with a largely increased majority.

It is true that many republicans have been hesitating about giving Hoover a place in the possibilities owing to the fact that he has up to now failed to clearly declare his party affiliations. There was no reason why he should. He was not a candidate. He had been mentioned, earnestly so, with detailed reasons why he was the best man in the nation for president, principally by democratic papers. He was in Europe then. When the time came and the continued use of his name made it necessary, he spoke, and he has left no one in doubt as to where he stands as a republican. Suspicion was cast on this attitude of silence, because he was supported by these democratic papers, keenly aware that no democrat now in the limelight, or any member of the Wilson Light Guard, stood a ghost of a show for the presidency. Now that Mr. Hoover has declared himself, they must either continue to give him support or stultify themselves. In the campaign for the election the literature furnished by democratic newspapers will be excellent reading in Mr. Hoover's favor.

HOME RULE ON THE WAY.

The Home Rule makeshift has started through the House of Commons and is likely to pass. It is a peculiar situation that the bill has bitter opposition at home and is just as earnestly antagonized by the Irish republican party, the Irish Nationalists and the Ulsterites as well. No man can read the history of Ireland and her absorption into the British government without being amazed that a nation which was so active against slavery and the slave trade and in earnest endeavor to establish the principles of right in other countries, could have so long assumed the attitude Great Britain has toward Ireland. The great majority of Americans, while questioning the right of this government to interfere, are themselves in favor of the establishment of the Irish republic. Home Rule now, would have had its counterpart, had the British at the beginning of the war of the revolution in 1775, said to America that this country might elect its own officials and have its own congress, but that the nation would still be a part of the British empire. We can imagine John Adams, Patrick Henry, John Hancock, Gouverneur Morris, and George Washington answering that proposal.

A CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Nothing makes a city more attractive than trees. Shaded streets, bordered with well-kept lawns, shrubbery and flowers about the houses, sides of the streets kept free from weeds and high grass, all speak of pride in the city and the home. Let us advise the owners of

THE POINT OF VIEW.

I can stand off and sneer at the conduct of Brown When Brown's winning fortune and local renown; I can say it's too bad that he's worshipping gold, And is losing the joys he will miss when he's old; But the fact still remains, when I'm through with his case,

That I might do the same were I put in his place.

Oh, it's easy to talk and it's easy to preach And frown at the fruit which are out of our reach; It is easy to say that my neighbor is wrong; In driving his horse, 'stead of jogging along; But the fact still remains, when my whining is through,

That if I'd a fast horse, I might gallop him, too.

I fancy, while fortune still smiles from afar, That I wouldn't be as some other men are; I stand up and talk of the happiness which I would scatter about if I ever got rich, But I know in my heart that if wealth came my way,

I might be the same sort of rich man as they.

The man on the mountain sees more and may know Much that is missed by the man down below, And I in my station may well govern me, By the light that I have and the path I can see; But no one should say what another should do, Unless he is sharing the same point of view.

the new homes built in the last year to set out trees and shrubs. It will repay many fold.

Janesville is giving promise of spring now. Trees will soon be in leaf and great carpets of green will cloud the poignant memory of a long winter. And while the front yard is looked after, the back yard is none the less inviting our attention. Climbing and flowering vines, rows of high flowering annuals along the fences or lot lines, old sheds or outhouses covered with greenery—all add to the beauty of the home spot. No matter if you are a renter, the landlord cannot take away the pleasure you will get from these things planted by you and growing under your own eye. Janesville has a reputation, as a beautiful city. Make it more attractive in 1920.

Opposition to the building of the waterway between the Great Lakes and the sea by the St. Lawrence river is powerful and may defeat the plan. That basis of objection is from New York, Boston and Philadelphia, especially New York, which sees the grain and other products from the middle west shipped direct to Europe without passing through its port. That is not a creditable position, but it is having its influence.

Mr. James M. Thompson, chief denouncer for the La Follette instructed delegation, is doing some plain and fancy denouncing in several portions of the state. He has a remedy for everything; take liberal doses of La Follette.

J. Ham Lewis wants to be a candidate for vice president. It is to be regretted that Ham chopped off his nice pink whiskers; they might have lighted the way to victory.

The La Follette platform may be a platform of some kind, but there is no stretch of the imagination that would call it republican.

Hindenburg would be as much out of place at the head of a republic as Villa superintending a Sunday school.

La Crosse did not vote wet but the Mississippi did.

Their Opinions

Mr. Humphreys also read the one-term plank, which William J. Bryan wrote into the Baltimore convention platform in 1912, the one on which Mr. Wilson made his first race for the presidency. This caused much laughter among the democrats as well as the republicans.—Racine Journal-News.

Senator Lenroot, in his letter to George B. West, expressing the hope that the list of "uninstructed" delegates to the republican national convention may be elected, calls attention to a matter which some may have overlooked. It is this. He states that he is informed that the placing of a list of opposing delegates in the field is the beginning of an organized fight on him at the primary. Certainly Wisconsin republicans are going to show an appreciation of the splendid service Senator Lenroot has rendered in that body by returning him for another term.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Which kind of a man would you rather have represent you at the Republican national convention in Chicago next June, a man "hog tied" to La Follette, or a man free from any entanglements of any kind?—Ashland Press.

Whether or not Delaware puts women on the map, the women have certainly done that little trick for Delaware.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Backward Glances

FORTY YEARS AGO

April 1, 1880.—There were six interments in Oak Hill cemetery during the month of March. Five of them were Janesville people.—C. E. Mosely is moving today. He will run his book and stationery store in the one just vacated by E. T. Foote.—The members of the high school graduating class are undergoing an examination by the County Superintendent.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 1, 1890.—There was an interesting paper read by the Hon. Alexander Graham at the recent horticultural institute held in this city. The subject was "Shade Trees." He told of their value and cultivation.—George Clark was badly, though not fatally hurt yesterday afternoon, when he fell from the front platform of a street car.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 1, 1900.—Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO

April 1, 1910.—The body of a baby girl, wrapped in a newspaper, was found early this morning on the roadside in Monterey. The coroner was notified and proved that the child had lived after being born and that it had been born only a few hours. No clues, whatever, have been found. There was an injury in the back of the head.

Policing Literature

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, April 1.—The recent suspicion on the part of the public that the book "The Obscure" by Thomas Hardy, one of the most famous novelists in the world, is attacked on the same ground and by inference put in the same class as the "Suppression of Vice" by otherwise known as the Comstock society, which made the attacks on both of them.

Revelation of the activities of the Comstock society seem to have met with little criticism, but in the case of the novel just suppressed, "The Obscure," by James Branch Cabell, several of the strong conservative newspapers of the country have expressed disapproval of this policing of our national literature by an organization which is, they say, doubtfully well qualified to judge.

All Liable to Attack
According to Henry L. Menckens, the well-known critic, the Comstock society and other societies of similar nature have a pronounced effect on the quality of American literature. The books suppressed are large, but that every American writer of fiction is in constant danger of an attack on his good name and the respect in which he writes something which the Comstock society chooses to consider immoral.

It is no wonder," he writes, "that the typical American maker of books becomes a timorous and ineffective fellow, whose work tends inevitably toward a mediocrity. The result is a literature full of mawkishness."

More Novelists in England
In England there are 10 competent novelists for every one in this country. In England there have been suppressions, too, but the attitude toward literature is vastly more tolerant. The English writer is not a far richer crop of books, many of which are brought out in America. It might be added that these English writers are seldom bothered by the Comstock society. It would be easy to mention half a dozen novels of English origin, now in print in this country, which have been suppressed in their original form, but which in their allusions to sex and more radical in their implications concerning "Jungles" and the like.

Few Understand Machinery
Few Americans understand the machinery by which this business of censoring literature is carried out. The New York Society for the Suppression of Vice was founded by Anthony Comstock, who received his first financial backing from Morris Knickerbocker, a publisher of a bill through congress in 1873 which prohibited the sending through the mails of "obscene, lewd, lascivious or filthy matter," but which did not define these adjectives, leaving it wholly to the jury to decide what came within the scope of the law. The actual passage of an amendment to the New York Code of Criminal Procedure added to the strength of the prosecutors by enabling them to attach the property of anyone under state law in the city where nearly the whole of the American publishing business is located.

This law was primarily designed to keep out of circulation worthless pornographic literature—a thing which everyone agreed should be done. Several such books, including the "Gospel of John," "The Boy," were suppressed and everyone applauded. Then Comstock proceeded to show what a dangerous power he had by often failing to suppress the "Gospel of John," the works of Zola, Balzac and Daudet—three French classics which may be said to be the backbone of the modern library in the world. In other words, he showed that a power which had been created for the suppression of worthless literature could be used ruthlessly for the suppression of any book whatever, even though the first-class intelligence of the whole world had been in proclaiming it a masterpiece.

Just Threaten Prosecution
Not only this, but Comstock and his successors have shown that they do not even need to find a jury which will agree with them. They have repeatedly suppressed books by merely threatening prosecution. It is the nature of a law kept out of their hands, and is often unintelligible to them. Firearms are also dangerous in the hands of children, but we do not seek to suppress them from the face of the earth. It is not considered necessary to destroy all foods not suitable for infants and dyspeptics.

And manifestly, if we are to have a civilization and a literature comparable to those of Europe, we must encourage our writers to write, not for the youngest and the most feeble-minded of Americans, but for the most educated and intelligent of them. Let us remember that all of the great literature of the world—the Bible, Shakespeare, the Iliad, Chaucer's poems—treat the loves of men and women frankly and openly. All of these could logically be suppressed and denied the mails under the laws of this country. Indeed, as the censor shows, one man has been prosecuted in America for sending a quotation from the Bible through the mails, and another for printing the Old Testament as a serial.

HOW TO PICK OUT AN ANCESTOR.

Ancestors will happen in the best of families. They happen also with great frequency in the worst.

When you get ready to thrust yourself in and elect as a member in good standing, or when you propose yourself for one of the great patriotic societies, you have got to hunt up an ancestor and take him as you find him.

The favorite method of picking out an ancestor and getting a good one is simply to grope back into history and pick out somebody by your name and claim him. If anybody can prove he is not your ancestor, try again, but it is ninety to one that nobody can.

When you go shopping for an ancestor, you should have no illusions. You will find that the ancestors easiest to locate are those who were so careless about their conduct that they got into public prints via the police court. The rowdy ancestors stand out like billboards along a railroad, mutilating the scenery and spoiling the view.

If your name is Pecknoodle, pick out some Pecknoodle who came over in the Mayflower or fought in the Revolution or helped organize the Standard Oil company, and freeze onto him. The chances are that you will probably find that Constant is a descendant of some Pecknoodle.

If you quote Upright Pecknoodle as your ancestor, you will probably find that old Upright spent nine years in gaol for struggling aimlessly when you put your finger on some solemn old ancestor named Constant, Goodbrother or Fidelity, you will probably find that Constant was jailed for wife desertion, Goodbrother served a term for eloping with a lodge brother's wife, and Fidelity was hanged for shooting off with the funds of some bank.

Genuine ancestors are fine to have in the family, but those you select to suit your personal taste are often more ornamental for social purposes.

She is a great man's secretary. She keeps him aloof from the bunch. From bores and from pests who are long on requests.

By telling them he's "out at lunch," she knows all his goings and comings. She's wise from her head to her toes.

She's wise to his cares and his little affairs. But never tell him how MUCH she knows.

And the great man, himself, would give much sordid pelf To find out just how MUCH she knows.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married four years. Mother would not give her consent to the marriage and so we promised if she would give us her blessing she might live with us.

We started out together, but from the first day mother bossed so that after six months I was sick in bed with a nervous breakdown. The doctor said mother would have to leave the home and my husband insisted that she go.

A year after I was married out first child was born and mother came back to help care for her. She seemed to have learned her lesson and was much more reasonable for a while.

Now my second baby is born and mother is so unreasonable that she will not let my husband or me have one word to say about what is to be done with our children. Mother is so hateful to my husband that he says either he or mother will have to leave the home. He has given me one month in which to make my choice.

I love my husband and cannot bear the thought of losing him. If I had promised to keep mother, I would say that she must go. I have always believed, however, that we are punished for the promises we break.

What can I do? JOSEPHINE.
The promises you made are not all on the side of your mother. To let your husband go would be breaking your marriage vows.

It is very clear that your mother should go and her happiness be sacrificed rather than the happiness of you, your husband and the two children.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a boy for a long time and he has always shown me a pleasant time, but lately he has become rather wild and I am afraid he is doing right or otherwise? Would it be wrong to have dates with a fellow who has not a very desirable reputation?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it necessary to open a box of candy which a young man brings while he is calling?

Yes, the candy should be opened while the young man is calling.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it proper for a young man to get into an automobile first or should he help the girl to get in?

It is more convenient for the man to get in first. Then it is not necessary for him to climb over the girl and step on her feet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Way Down South in the Land of Cotton.

Does it weaken one or endanger health to get the foot wet at the moment one is eating? (S. J.)

ANSWER—No.

Kindly tell me the food value of kummys. Is it advisable to take after an operation, and how long after? (S. J.)

ANSWER—About the same value as milk. Ask the doctor in charge of the patient.

Bottle Baby.

Our baby is fourteen months old yet has no teeth. Some say not to worry and some say it is not natural. He is a bottle baby. (C. J. O.)

ANSWER—Perhaps what goes in the bottle is not suitable nutriment. Try to find out what you feed the baby.

Mineral and Vegetable Acids.

Will you kindly name some mineral and vegetable acids? What causes a baby's urine to have an odor like ammonia? (Mrs. W. P.)

ANSWER—Hydrochloric and sulphuric acids are mineral acids; citric and benzoic acids are vegetable acids. Excessive decomposition produces the odor of ammonia in urine.

Rum Blossom.

There is no rum to be had in our territory yet. I have a beautiful "rum blossom" in there. Is there any local application which will tone down the glow of my cheeks? (C. J. O.)

ANSWER—Apply this lotion: One gram precipitated sulphur, five grains camphor, ten grains trisulphate, and one ounce each of lime water and rose water.

Little Pussycat.

I am at a loss to find out the origin of my bad breath. Your monograph on the subject which you kindly sent me suggested several causes, but so far as I can see none of them are present in my case. My teeth are all in good shape except one or two small cavities. (C. J. O.)

ANSWER—It requires a very small cavity sometimes to give one a very offensive breath. Anyway, a small cavity is the very cavity that deserves prompt attention by your dentist, as a matter of health and economy.

HOW MANY CLUB WOMEN?

More than two million women in the United States belong to the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Probably another million belong to clubs not yet federated in the National Federation.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 women and girls still live in harems in Turkey.

NEW SPRING COATS

By ELOISE.

You must either buy a simple, well-tailored coat this spring or else you must get a rather costly and elaborate wrap. The wraps vary from flowing capes to short dolmans of every color and glorious materials. The tailored coat does not show such a broad choice for the polo cloth is the main type. If you do not care for the wraps and if you think the polo coats will be too popular there is a small group of semi-tailored models built on simple lines which will be sure to please.

Here is a very charming model for spring wear which is practical and serviceable yet smart and fashionable at the same time. The woman who likes suits but feels that she wants a coat too will surely be satisfied with this one, for she may wear it over her one-piece frocks or slip it on over a suit. The coat shows several novel features which give it an air of individuality which all women want. Note the odd giraffe made of oilcloth and the inserts of white ribbon on the peplum of the coat.

Baseball Circuit to Be Formed in Small Badger Cities

10 TOWNS PLAN TO PUSH THE PROJECT

Preliminary Steps Taken and Second Meeting Will Be Held in Madison Sunday.

The baseball bug has hit the smaller towns of the southern section of the state. Indications now are that a league of 10 clubs, representing as many cities, will be formed before the beginning of next week.

Preliminary steps have already been taken along these lines. The first action was started last Sunday with a meeting of interested persons at the Capitol hotel, Madison, details of which have been withheld until now to assure success of the project. It was decided that the circuit would embrace Madison, Stoughton, Edgerton, Evansville, Cambridge, Waterloo, the other four places to be selected later.

In each of these places, meetings of the fans are being held this week. At Edgerton, especially, the plan is being pushed with vigor, where a meeting will be held in a few days to select a manager and perfect a local organization.

An honest poet would confess
It likewise hints at liquification.

THE BITING IRONY OF FATE

He praised her worth,
Her wit, her looks,
No one on earth,
Nor yet in books,
He said to her,

And so profound
And so profound
Was Paul's despair,
To live, he said,
He did not care.

ST. PAT'S COME BACK IN FINAL AND WIN; FEELS BEAT LUTHERS

Defeated at the end of the first half by two points, with the score standing 7-7 in favor of the Methodists, St. Patrick's basketball team turned around in the second period and made a winning, 23 to 16. Leading the church league with no defeat, St. Pat's ran in Vic Hemming, eligible as a member of the church and in regular attendance, in the wind-up. In the first half Vic had done the refereeing. The Methodists turned to Paul Richards in the last period to strengthen their combination.

The Federated players defeated the first Lutherans by a great run of scoring in the final half. At half time the score had stood 4-1 in favor of the Federated bunch. Fein showed considerable speed in the last stretch by ringing nine field goals.

Britain and Holland, as Well as U. S., To Celebrate Pilgrims' Tercentenary

Scenes, from top to bottom: Plymouth rock; the Mayflower in Plymouth harbor; the landing of the Pilgrims, and Plymouth, Mass., as it looks today. The men, from top to bottom: Henry Van Dyke, John A. Stewart and Viscount Bryce.

NEW YORK.—A nation-wide celebration commemorating the landing of the Pilgrims three hundred years ago will mark the present year. But, indicating its deeper importance, is the fact that the United States alone will not celebrate this important event in her early history. All English-speaking people, as well as Holland, will participate. In official, institutional and community exercises, and will take part in commemorating what the Pilgrims stood for.

Beginning with the 1st of May in England, according to the plans of the Pilgrims' Institution, the activities will commence; later at the old port of London, Holland, and then in the United States. Again the Mayflower will sail from England, following the route of the Pilgrims of old, touching at London and next at Provincetown, Mass., where in August will be the scene of celebrations. Later Plymouth, Mass., will hold the center of the stage.

It is expected that the events marking this tercentenary will be distributed throughout all parts of the United States, and will touch all sections and classes of people, from highest officialdom down to little private groups of people, social clubs, churches, in that downward sweep institutions, schools, organizations and societies.

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will naturally make a rush for the Indian drama, Indian games and dances with native songs. Schools and colleges will devote themselves to impressive pageants. Churches and religious institutions will find that the entertainment to raise money for the fund for this or that must include "A Little Pilgrim Progress," which is a one-act play with Pilgrim setting.

Celebrations in England are being arranged by the Pilgrims' Institution, which takes its name from the ancient seat of the Washington family. Sullgrave Manor, North Hans, England. At this manor a special celebration will mark the tercentenary. The English committee includes the Archbishop of Canterbury, Viscount Bryce, Viscount Grey, David Lord George, Cardinal Bourne and the lord mayor of London.

A prominent figure in the Holland celebration will be Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton University, formerly U. S. ambassador to the Netherlands.

CRUEL STEPFATHER IS BRODERICK GIRL'S EXCUSE FOR MURDER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Louis, April 1.—Joseph F. Woodcock made a sensational statement yesterday, his stepdaughter, Ursula Broderick, 16-years old, it was testified at the girl's trial today on a charge of first degree murder for killing Woodcock April 14 last.

Mrs. Lillian Woodcock, mother of the girl and also under indictment for her husband's death, asserted Woodcock drank heavily and when under the influence of intoxicants made repeated attempts to attack the girl.

When sober, she continued, he resented his actions and always apologized to Ursula.

The girl also killed her father, Thomas P. Broderick, four years ago, she declared. She shot Woodcock to defend her honor.

On one occasion, Mrs. Woodcock said, she visited the prosecuting attorney's office to complain of her husband's threats against the girl, but the office was closed.

The state is attempting to prove that Ursula did not shoot her father to murder Woodcock.

Strawberry Bed For Small Garden

Directions for Preparation of Soil, Planting, Care of Bed, and Harvesting Properly Handled Each Plant Should Produce Quart of Berries.

(Written for the United States School Garden Army.)

Time to plant—March and April. Age of plants.—One-year-old plants give the best results.

Preparation of soil.—Strawberries grow in many kinds of soil. Any good well-drained garden soil well prepared, will produce strawberries. A layer, one inch deep, of well-rotted manure should first be thoroughly spaded into the soil, then finely ground bone meal at the rate of one pound to every 25 square feet of space, and tobacco stems at the rate of three pounds to the same space should be carefully raked into the soil. Wood ashes spread over the soil just thick enough to be seen can be used in place of bone meal and tobacco stems.

Setting the plants.—The rows should be two feet apart and the plants one foot apart in the rows. The holes should be deep enough to place the plants at the same depth they were before and large enough to spread the roots out well. In transplanting the soil should be placed a little at a time around the roots and pressed down firmly. Care should be taken not to get any soil in the crown.

Care of the bed.—Clean culture is of prime importance. The strawberry bed should be hoed frequently so as to keep the bed free from weeds and the upper two and one-half inches of soil loose and dustlike. Throughout the first summer all lower stems should be removed as soon as they appear. The runners should be cut off. The cut should be made as close to the plant as possible. To prevent rain from splattering sand and soil on the fruit, a thin layer of straw or pine needles should be spread over and between the rows in December. This layer should be thin enough for the plants to grow through it the following spring.

Harvesting.—A strawberry bed carefully prepared and cared for should produce at the rate of a quart of berries to the plant the following season.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Written and publication authorized by Wm. J. Lennartz and to be paid for by him at the rate of 75c per inch.

To the Voters of the City of Janesville:—

I wish to announce myself to the voters of Janesville as a candidate for the office of City Treasurer. I was born in Janesville April 22nd, 1861, and am nearly fifty-nine years of age. I have been in the U. S. Postal Service for thirty-two years as a City Letter Carrier. Have been on the U. S. Civil Service Examining Board for twenty-eight years and am now Chairman of said Board.

There is an impression prevailing that there is a pension attached to the Mail Service, but this is not true.

Previous to my work as a Letter Carrier, I was employed by the old firm of Hodge & Buchholz for eleven years. My entire life has been spent in Janesville and the same is an open book to all of the older citizens as well as the younger. I feel that this explanation is due to the citizens that do not know me.

As to my qualifications, I wish to assure the citizens that I am competent to carry out the duties of the office if elected.

In making this statement, I am appealing to the citizens for their support and in return, if I am elected, I promise to give the office the best there is in me.

Respectfully,

Wm. J. Lennartz

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin would begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND

By JANE BUNKER

The poor man looked from one to the other of us—and actually I did not have a word to say. He stared at me. I cannot understand it. I recognize the writing of Madame Delarive. He was silent a moment and then light seemed suddenly to break on him and he launched an ultimatum of accusation at me: "If Madame Delarive had not been so stupid, she would not have been so stupid—how could she refer to me? How could she have come down to this—to deceive me? He answered in a low voice: 'Now answer that—if you can.'"

I had expected some such question and I was ready. "That's too simple," I assured him. "You're wrong. You accused me of stealing jewelry from your daughter; therefore I knew what you were after."

"But what was your purpose?"—it rose most evidently to unsettle jewels—

"Oh, I put that in," Billy interrupted. "It doesn't mean anything but what you make it mean. See?" He spoke in a tone that said: "You're staving yourself away."

Monsieur ignored him and looked at me as if expecting me to continue my explanation.

"The hysteresis," I went on—they lay, a degraded bunch, on the floor. You overlooked them in your search for the diamonds. You did not know, then, that I knew you?"

"Then it was I calling your attention to it. You see, monsieur," I added, "I knew you would remember the one thing you'd overlooked."

"And you were right," Monsieur flitted across his face at the compliment. "I was paying his intelligence—and come back to investigate—if you had the chance, it gave you the chance, that was all."

"But how do you know that I can come back so easily as that?" he asked. "Well, I puzzled and partly to draw me out."

"You had a pass-key to the flat—you opened the door with it the other night and I stood behind it while you were working at the chain-bolt. I saw your hand."

"And you said nothing—you do not seem when you see a man try to get into your apartment in the middle of the night?" he interrupted, his tone a mixture of incredulity and—hope. "I'll be in the apartment tonight—admiration for my bravery."

"Why should I say anything—or scream? I knew you couldn't get in, so what was there to be scared over?"

He smiled then for the first time and said: "Madame, you are a brave woman."

Important to all Women
Readers of This Paper.
Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never know it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root is like. The answer comes in the form of a letter from Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

Red Cheeks and Pep

The April Fool Girl

Mollie Price Cook

"Say girls, what are you going to do for April Fool?" asked Nellie Lang.

"You'd better ask us what we're not going to do," Sarah Fuller answered.

"I, for one, am going to play every trick that's ever been played on me as far back as I can remember."

"I'm going to make fudge with a flavor of red pepper. I'm going to rub soap on dishes and hair-brushes."

"I'm going to scare folks by telling them I've got a ghost."

"There is no sport which so thoroughly trains foot, hand, body, eye and brain."

"Here we may be made with any hard-grained wood (ash or hickory) shaving down with a draw-knife as thin as is compatible with strength."

"Yes, and we can pin funny signs on everybody's clothes," said another of the girls.

"It certainly does look funny to see a fat man going along the street with a pin in his back."

"I am a fool pinner. I pin things on people."

"I saw a woman stepping out with an old paint-rag pinned to her skirt. We had a picnic, last year, you know, in the street."

"Nellie listened to all that was said."

"Yes," she agreed dubiously, "but none of these is original. I want to do something different."

"So Nellie thought to herself that the best way to fool people on April Fool's day was to play a trick on them."

"She thought of a very nice trick, but something nice, which they were not expecting. They would be April Fooled just the same."

"Realize that Easter, this year."

Near the end of it should think to a half-an-inch wide circle, like the mouth of a small horn, but flat. You can glue on this a piece of rubber. Fencing is the sword-play of the world. It is a game of skill and strength. The boy who is quick in his wits, light on his feet, and nimble with his fingers may make a very good fencer. An hour of it will make you feel as if you'd walked 'steak miles' carrying a heavy pack with a tump-stap.

In beginning, it's a good idea to get a piece of wire mosquito netting and fasten this over a baseball catcher's mask. There's never any reason for a thrust to the face, but the girls agreed that Nellie's ideas had the most cleverest.

Little Rollo strolled into his tutor's room to remind him that it was time for the semi-weekly lesson in "Jimmynwizzes."

"What can you be doing with all those bedroom slippers?" There must be 20 pairs there, teacher dear, and all different colors."

"Twenty-eight pairs, Rollo, to be exact—pink, green, blue and opalescent," replied Mr. Proons.

"And do you say them all yourself, teacher dear?"

"I bought none of them, Rollo. I never use bedroom slippers."

"But tutor dear, insisted little Rollo. 'Why do people all give you the same thing?'"

"Because, Rollo, the feminine portion of the human race possesses less imagination than the common or garden variety of Australian twizzle birds."

"But, dear Mrs. Proons, why do you keep them?"

"Because even I possess less imagination than I had given myself credit for," the replied.

"Then, asked he, what do I will explain to you Wasebunch's theory of the dramaticity of flames?"

"An Mr. Proons and little Rollo came from school, and into the alley and made a pretty bonfire of them, and sat on two potato baskets, discussing the aforesaid theory till nothing was left of the fire but a few smouldering tassets."

Boys do you ever stop to think what were the sports of the men of old? Where did the great heroes Roland, the Red Richard Cœur de Lion and Bayard, get their strength and endurance? What had has not thrilled over the deeds of The Three Musketeers?

They didn't have any football, baseball. But they were men, sure enough!

Here was their secret—fencing. There is no sport which so thoroughly trains foot, hand, body, eye and brain.

Why Snakes Eat Frogs
And the Memory-Man said:

In the very beginning when the animals were told that they might eat, all were satisfied except the Serpent, who put in a claim to human blood, because of Adam.

Now, the then as he is now, so the Mosquito was made a Committee of One to investigate. He found Adam, pierced his blood and decided it tasted good. Having found that out, he started to fly back to report.

But Adam had a friend in the Swallow, which could fly faster than the Mosquito, and as the messenger was speeding back, the swallow darted at him and nipped at his tail.

The Mosquito tried to express himself with an angry buzz that sounded like the croaking of a frog.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

While Billy was turning about the man turning the hose on him, another man came along and gave him a nice, cool drink, and as he saw, he had not eaten any of the hay he gave him a bunch of carrots and a bundle of nice grass. This Billy appreciated and he said to himself: "That's a nice man. I'll do him a favor—some time if I ever get the chance."

Billy had not stopped eating when a man came along with a bucket in his hand with something black in it and a large flat brush. When he got to Billy's cage he commenced to unlock the door and to ring before the animals' cages, talking and giving them peanuts, popcorn and apples.

(In the next story Billy bids the circus good-bye.)

THE SUNSHINE TURN

By Nilsaah.

"To go with the sun is to go lucky."

This superstition is as old as the folklore of the world. In early days the traveler who journeyed in the next direction as the sun felt that the circumstances of his pilgrimage were propitious. It seems a reasonable and attractive belief, making one feel chummy with the source of life, and so it was peculiarly appropriate name for Mary Mowbray-Clarke and Madge Jenison to adopt for the book shop.

For there is one enterprise more than another which ought to travel with the light. It is the business of the traveler who journeyed in the next direction as the sun felt that the circumstances of his pilgrimage were propitious. It seems a reasonable and attractive belief, making one feel chummy with the source of life, and so it was peculiarly appropriate name for Mary Mowbray-Clarke and Madge Jenison to adopt for the book shop.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Miss Minnie Seaman, a pretty convent-bred girl, has been appointed a deputy United States marshal. She is the first woman in Arizona to be appointed a deputy and so far as is known she is the only woman in the United States to hold such office. Although distinctly feminine, Miss Seaman is endowed with qualities decidedly western, which makes her laugh at the idea that there is danger in her position. She possesses the qualities of a deputy and agent of the department of justice on the raids for stills in Arizona mountains or on the desert roads. However, she will be largely stenographic but she may be called upon to carry on any of those duties that devolve on marshals' deputies which she declares she is ready and willing to do. Miss Seaman was educated in a convent where she received special instruction in music and art. After completing her course she notified her wealthy Arizona relatives that she did not intend leading a butterfly life. She forthwith secured a position as clerk in the legislature. Later she was attached to the office of adjutant general and her recent appointment as deputy is still farther away from a "butterfly life."

ASK VOTE FOR SUFFRAGE
Uncertainty over the vote of the suffrage amendment in the Delaware legislature has caused four cabinet members—Secretaries Daniels, Houson and Meredith and Attorney General Palmer—to send appeals urging the democratic members to support it. The National Woman's party made public the messages recently with the statement that the democratic party is endeavoring to secure a unanimous vote from its members of the legislature.

in henna shades. Blue hemp is also favored and is usually embroidered with gray angora or metal threads. If you don't care for liere or milan or leghorn there are any number of other attractive straws which will please this season. The rough novelty weaves are going to be in very high favor and then there is that lustrous cellophane which is the last word in modern millinery, but feathers or satin facings are featured on all of them.

Rows and rows of cellophane make the youthful hat at the upper left. A bandeau covered with flowers of ribbon and tulle forms the trimming. The brim is faced with brown satin, and a brown feather fancy is placed artistically at the back. The hat at the lower right is a draped turban of braided straw with two large, curved feathers. It is a smart suit hat for the matron and just a bit too old for the young girl. The black hat at the upper right is a distinctive model for street and semi-dress wear. It is black with a deep upturned brim faced in black glycerined ribbon. Conque feathers of the same color, sweeping downward over the cheek, is an illustration of what is new in the trimming line.

HOOVER STIRS UP MUCH TALK

partisans that Postmaster General Burleson be removed from office.

Hoover is a "Dry" is a dry, a thorough dry. He looks assistance at the wet inclinations of the democrats. Though he may have views upon certain amendments to the Volstead act which would make that law less offensive to individual liberty, he hasn't any leaning toward the wet side of the argument. He thinks prohibition is a good thing and that national efficiency will be promoted by its enforcement. The treaty show that he doesn't approve of President Wilson's uncompromising position and in his letter to Mr. Gregory of San Francisco just made public, the former food administrator practically draws himself away from what he calls the president's "extreme view on participation in European affairs." This is even more clearly emphasized in the letter written by Mr. Hoover in Paris a year ago which was "unadvisedly" made public ten days ago.

Not Wilson Choice
Mr. Hoover is neither President Wilson's choice nor in the good graces of the white house. He has committed the unpardonable sin of differing with the president on the peace treaty. He has been of course supported by the leading administration newspapers and by some influential administration men. But that support has not been of his seeking. Nevertheless there was keen gratification in white house quarters today because of the fact that Herbert Hoover had entered himself in the republican primaries of California on the league of nations issue. This means he will fight it out against Hiram Johnson, who wants neither league nor treaty nor reservations. Politically, this part of the Hoover letter is the most important. It means that Hiram Johnson will probably lose in his own home state. For under California laws anybody can vote in either republican or democratic primaries without regard to previous affiliation. So democrats of democrats who favor the league and republicans who think likewise, is enough to defeat Hiram Johnson.

Demand For Hoover
Many of the supporters of avowed democratic nominees like Palmer and McAdoo were glad Hoover had written a letter saying he was "naturally affiliated" with the republicans. This removes their most dangerous competitors—at least they think he has been removed. But the most significant fact of the whole business is what is happening under the surface in both parties—namely a demand for Hoover irrespective of party. Here is something that shows which way the wind blows.

Several members of congress who have been "back home" sounding out their constituents have come back to Washington. A man who went to Tennessee in the interest of the McAdoo candidacy came back with the story that the democrats want Hoover.

A man who went to California for Hiram Johnson is back with a confidential report that "it's all Hoover in California."

A man who knows the situation in Minnesota well is himself whispering another candidate says scores of newspapers are coming out for Hoover.

One returning observer—a member of congress who looked into the situation in North Dakota for his own candidate—says the non-partisan league "is against Hoover."

Sick of Politicians
The burden of the tales brought back is that the nation is sick and tired of the political maneuvering of both parties and that the effect of the failure of the treaty in the senate is to hold present officeholders responsible for being guided by politics rather than the national interest. That is something independent newspapers throughout the country have been telling congress for many weeks but the truth is only now being realized. And the name of Herbert Hoover has been seized upon as the one means of expressing the resentment of the country against both the republican and democratic machines in the government.

Will Not Hurt Hoover
The professional politicians in the republican party are already riding Mr. Hoover's announced appeal for a liberal platform and progressive nominee at the republican convention. The democratic politicians have been doing it at the mention of Mr. Hoover's name for their ticket. This will not hurt Mr. Hoover's prestige and help to the friends of Mr. Hoover would like nothing better than a denunciation of Mr. Hoover by the reactionary elements in both the democratic and republican parties for they believe this will not affect the rank and file who are ready to support a progressive leader. The contrary, they are sure it will mean millions of independent votes no matter on what ticket Mr. Hoover eventually makes the race.

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders a vital service by giving multiplications of value to that portion of the crude oil left, after gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils have been extracted, through the production of innumerable by-products, each supplying a definite need.

Thus have been developed products such as Parowax, which serve such useful purposes as a protective coating for cheese, meats, and sausages; for match ends; for water-proofing milk bottle caps, ice cream pails, and paper drinking cups; and for sealing preserved vegetables, fruits and jellies against bacteria, ferments and mold.

These are but a few of the uses of one of the more than 2000 products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), covering needful commodities from asphalt to candles.

So vast a program could not be carried out except by a highly specialized organization, developed to maintain numerous contacts with the world of production on one hand, and with the consuming public on the other.

It was the need for such a specialized organization which led to the great development of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). No single function of this great organization has come into being without a definite call to service.

Today the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big only because the need of its service is great; because the ways in which it is able to serve are continually multiplying as the complexities of modern industrial life increase.
